REPORT ON GUEST LECTURE ON AWARENESS OF COMPETITIVE EXAMS BY SPACE

Under the Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) established with SPACE, a session was organised on awareness of competitive exams for first year students. The main aim of the lecture was to raise students' awareness of various competitive exams available after completing their 12th grade and during their graduation. The speaker also delved into how subjects studied during graduation could aid in preparing for these exams.

The lecture began by introducing students to the concept of competitive exams and their significance in shaping future career paths. The speaker provided an overview of various competitive exams, including those relevant for students after completing their 12th grade and during their graduation.

The speaker elucidated on how the subjects studied during graduation can be advantageous in preparing for competitive exams.

Through examples and case studies, students gained insights into leveraging their academic knowledge to excel in competitive exams in fields related to their areas of study.

The session encouraged students to explore a wide array of competitive exams beyond traditional career paths. Students were introduced to alternative career options and sectors where competitive exams play a significant role in recruitment processes.

A total of 68 students actively participated in the session, demonstrating a keen interest in exploring opportunities through competitive exams. The interactive nature of the session facilitated meaningful engagement, with students eagerly participating in discussions and raising queries to enhance their understanding.
